2. Purpose
   The purpose of this course is to assist students in making a successful transition to college life and adult life beyond college as a result of becoming knowledgeable through exposure to four key instructional areas associated with academic and adult life success. First, the course will assist with helping students' identify/create an individual student success life plan. Second, students will then be educated regarding the process of navigating the college experience which entails learning all about campus and local community resources available to help students succeed in college and adult life. Third, this course will focus upon teaching students classroom behavioral strategies such as learning how to learn certain subjects, how to study, how to apply critical thinking skills, etc. in order to help students realize learning success inside and outside the classroom. Fourth, this course will focus upon those behavioral processes students should implement in order to realize and maintain personal well-being in five areas of being such as: spirituality, physicality, social relationships, psychological being and vocational actualization. Ideally, each of the four key instructional curriculum areas should be focused upon in 4 week intervals while individual student success plan should thematically be addressed all throughout the course in harmonious conjunction with the other three instructional areas.

   The target population for this course consists of NMC students who need to take or are taking any developmental math course, and other NMC students who would benefit from the information covered in this course.
